Mary Kay Henry
SEIU President

Henry serves as International President of the Service Employees International Union (SEIU), which unites 2 million workers in healthcare, public and property services. Henry has devoted her life to helping North America's workers form unions and strengthen their voice at work about the quality of services they provide. Under her leadership, SEIU members have joined together on the job to win better wages and benefits and build better communities; while fighting for a more just society and an economy that works for all of people, not just corporations and the wealthy.

McKibben is a best-selling author and founder of 350.org, the first planet-wide, grassroots climate change movement, which has organized twenty-thousand rallies around the world in every country save North Korea, spearheaded the resistance to the Keystone Pipeline, and launched the fast-growing fossil fuel divestment movement. In 2014 he was awarded the Right Livelihood Prize, sometimes called the 'alternative Nobel.' His 1989 book The End of Nature is regarded as the first book for a general audience about climate change.

Bill McKibben
Co-founder, 350.org

Fletcher is a racial justice, labor and international activist, and author of "They're Bankrupting Us!" And 20 Other Myths About Unions. He is a syndicated columnist and a regular media commentator. He has been an activist since his teen years. Upon graduating from college he went to work as a welder in a shipyard, thereby entering the labor movement. Over the years he has been active in workplace and community struggles as well as electoral campaigns.
